

Best Dog for You

{slide=Which is the breed of dog that will best suit your circumstances and preferences?} Many websites provide information about the characteristics of the large number of different breeds available. We have drawn loosely on the tables at Pet Guardian Angels of America to rate a small selection on a number of attributes and show how Annalisa could help in this decision. Of course the ratings in this example are largely judgmental and the weightings shown are purely personal, so the resulting scores are largely of interest to myself! {/slide}{slide=Attributes} mod-Size, Coat Smoothness, min-Shedding, min-Grooming, mod-Exercise Requirements, good with Kids, good with Strangers, mod-Independence. Note that in the case of some attributes (e.g. size, exercise requirement) a middle value is given the highest rating, with bigger and smaller values both lower-rated. This is indicated by the mod prefix in the list. The prefix min indicates that the less the better. Where neither of these prefixes appear max is implied - the more the better{/slide}{slide=Options} Yorkshire, King Charles Spaniel, Basset Hound, Border Collie, Whippet, German Shepherd, Golden Retriever, Vizsla, Irish Wolfhound, Saint Bernard {/slide}
